Don't let your crop get ruined because you weren't aware of a too high or too low temperature in your greenhouse. With the new Bartlett C.I.S. you can receive text messages or emails when any alarm condition is met. In less than a minute of the alarm being set off, C.I.S. will send out a message out to up to 30 people, alerting everyone of problem.

To help improve communication among everyone at the greenhouse getting the message, we suggest downloading a group texting app. This way, everyone will be aware that the problem is being taken care of. Try GroupMe, Google Hangouts, or Beluga as a way for everyone to receive the group texts.

Want more information on how C.I.S. can help improve your greenhouse? Check out our website at www.bartinst.com or give us a call at 319-372-8366.
