The Genesis controller has many great features to offer. One that can be quite helpful is the Cost of Firing feature. This allows users to calculate the approximate cost for each firing done by the kiln. Just input a few pieces of information - the cost of electricity per kilowatt-hour for your area and the wattage rating of the kiln. With that information, the controller will calculate the cost of each firing.

The cost of firing will only be accurate if the correct information is added to the controller. You may need to adjust the cost per kilowatt-hours if that value changes at peak usage hours. Check with your local electrical company for more information.

To set up Cost of Firing with your Genesis, follow these steps:

- From the Home Screen, press the "Menu" button.
- Scroll down to Configuration and select it.
- Scroll down to Cost Setup and select it.
- Now, click on Cost/KWH.
- On the next screen, enter the cost per kilowatt-hour for your area to the tenth of a penny and press "Save"
- Next, enter the wattage for the kiln
 - Single Zone Kiln - Enter the kiln's wattage in Zone 2 Watts. Enter 0 for Zone 1 Watts and Zone 3 Watts.
 - Two Zone Kiln - Enter the kiln's wattage in Zone 1 Watts and Zone 2 Watts. Enter 0 for Zone 3 Watts.
 - Three Zone Kiln - Enter corresponding wattage for each zone (1, 2, and 3)

- When finished, press "Back", then "Home" to return to the Home Screen.

To check the Cost of Firing for the most recent firing:

- From the Home Screen, press "Menu"
- Press "Data Menu"
- Under Data Menu, press the Last Firing Status button.
- Scroll to the bottom and you will see the cost for the last firing.
