Adjusting Your Alarm Setting For Your Needs

Did you know you can adjust the alarm settings on your controller before or during a firing to alert you at various temperatures? If you need to know when the kiln reaches its top temperature or different temperatures throughout the firing you can adjust it accordingly. When the alarm temperature is reached, a buzzer will sound but will have no effect on the firing itself.

For example, if you'd like to know when the kiln reaches 1000 degrees so you can check its contents, this can be done pretty easily. Just set the alarm for 1000 degrees and it will sound once that temperature has been reached. Then, if you'd like another alarm to sound at 1800, just reset the alarm to the new temperature and you're good to go! If you'd like to turn the alarm off, simply type in 9, 9, 9, 9 and the alarm will be shut off.

Setting the alarm with the V6-CF controller:

- Press the Alarm button and the controller will alternate the word ALRM with the last entered alarm temperature.
- Type in the new desired temperature. Per our example, type 1, 0, 0, 0.
- Press the Enter button and the controller will return back to the current temperature.

Setting the alarm with the Genesis controller:

- From Idle press the Menu button, then Adjustments. During a firing, press the Adj. button.
- Then, press the Alarm Temp. button.
- Type in the desired alarm temperature.
- Press the Save button, then Home to return to the Idle screen.

Setting the alarm with the RTC1000 controller:

- Press the Enter/Start button
- Press the 7/Alarm button and the controller will alternate the word ALRM with the last entered alarm temperature.
- Type in the new desired temperature.
- Press the Enter button and the controller will return back to the current temperature.

If you have questions about your controller's alarm option, let us know and we will be happy to help!
